KALTENBORN, 3 GOVERNORS TO SPEAK HERE AT ROTARY MEETING

One of the nation's outstanding news commentators; three governors, and a former Gettysburg clergyman will be the principal speakers at the conference of Rotary clubs in south central Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia that will be held in Gettysburg on May 7, 8 and 9.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, chairman of the halls and meeting place committee for the conference, announced this morning that Hans V. Kaltenborn, prominent commentator, will speak at the conference on Tuesday morning, May 9, at 10:30 o'clock in the Majestic theatre.

Mr. Kaltenborn, who delivered the commencement address to the Gettysburg college seniors last June, won nation-wide praise for his reports on the crisis in Europe that led to the Munich agreement last fall.

Also on Tuesday—at the noon luncheon in the college gymnasium—it is planned to have Governors Arthur H. James, of Pennsylvania; Herbert R. O'Connor, of Maryland, and Homer A. Holt, of West Virginia, as guests. Invitations have been sent to them and they have indicated that they will be present.

All Meetings on Campus

The address on Monday evening, May 8, will be given at the conference banquet in the gymnasium by the Rev. Dr. Joseph B. Baker, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church in York. He formerly was pastor of St. James Lutheran church here.

Activities for the conference will open on Sunday evening, May 7, when Doctor Hanson, college president, will preach a sermon in Brua chapel. All the conference meetings and luncheons will be held on the ettysburg campus.

The conference was planned for the spring of the year so that the more than 700 delegates who will attend from the 75 clubs in the district will be given an opportunity to visit the battlefield while the Judas trees are in bloom and also to tour the county while the apple blossoms are out

Tentative programs for the men and women have been set up and will be announced in detail soon.

C. A. Bixler is general chairman of the conference for the Gettysburg club. Dr. R. S. Saby is serving with Doctor Hanson on the halls and meeting place committee.

CHARGES DROPPED

Chicken stealing charges against Allen Daywalt and Floyd Baker, Hamiltonban township, were dropped Thursday afternoon with the consent of the prosecutor, Officer Joseph F. Bushey of the state motor police of Gettysburg, when the defendants made restitution for four chickens they admitted taking last July and paid the costs. The chickens were taken from the property of Miss Addie Staley, also of Hamiltonban township.

NO DAMAGE FROM FIRE

The Gettysburg fire company was called to the Lutheran Theological seminary dormitory Thursday evening about 5:55 o'clock. The firemen found a covering of a basement window blazing. The flames were tramped out without the use of water or chemicals. There was no damage.

CONDITION IMPROVED

Miss Helen Keith, who has been a patient at the Warner hospital this week with a throat and ear infection, is reported to be slightly improved.

OPENS SUIT FOR CAR PAYMENT

R. M. Hoffman and company, Gettysburg, through its attorney, Edgar K. Markley, Esq., opened suit in Adams county court today against Carl C. Stough of Stough Motors, New Oxford, for $314.08 with interest from January 13, 1938.

In the statement of claim filed in the assumpsit action in the office of Prothonotary C. Arthur Brame, the local concern states that on September 1, 1937, the defendant sold to Clarence Crouse, Gettysburg, a 1935 model sedan under a bailment lease and then transferred its interest in the car to the Hoffman finance firm. In January of 1938, the car was seized by Gettysburg borough police and later ordered forfeited to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control board by the Adams county court.

Knights Templar Officers Elected

The annual election of officers was conducted Thursday evening by Gettysburg Commandery, No. 79, Knights Templar. The new officers will be installed later and will serve for one year beginning May 1.

Sir John D. Settle was named commander; Sir Howard Schley Fox, generalissimo; Sir John D. Teeter, captain general; Sir Martin W. Klinefelter, treasurer; Eminent Sir Charles W. Myers, recorder; Eminent Sirs J. Elmer Musselman, W. Preston Hull and L. C. Keefauver, trustees.

The annual conclave of Knights Templar will be held at Scranton from May 21 to 24.

HINT POLAND WILL NOT JOIN FOES OF HITLER

(By the Associated Press)

British and French efforts to rally "anti-aggressor" nations to halt Adolf Hitler's march to the east centered today on winning Poland's support.

Poland has been deaf to British entreaties without flat military commitments to assure her own defense. Her neighbor on three sides is Germany which now has smashed Czechoslovakia, gained Memel and struck a broad trade bargain with Rumania.

It was believed in London that France, because of her long-standing friendship with Poland, might be more likely to persuade Poland to join. This, it was believed, will be a prime matter in urgent consultations expected to take place between French Premier Daladier and his foreign minister, Georges Bonnet.

The Warsaw Express Poranny, considered a mouthpiece of the foreign office, said Poland would not join any international bloc.

Bonnet and President Albert Lebrun of France left for Paris after a three-day state visit to King George VI and Queen Elizabeth in London.

Also confronting France was the possibility of negotiations to settle her differences with Italy. Many French observers saw a direct link between the French-Italian issue and the attempt to form a "stop Hitler" bloc.

They reasoned that Premier Mussolini was marking time to see how successful Britain and France would be and expressed belief that much further delay would indicate to Il Duce that he had chosen well in casting his lot with Hitler.

The United States embassy in Peiping handed written representations to the Japanese embassy on the fourth bombing in recent weeks of the American Baptist mission hospital at Chengchow, in Honan province. Americans in Peiping said Japanese air raids had damaged American property in ten instances during March.

HOTEL GREETERS TO SEE SHRINES

Members of the Central Travel club of Charter No. 41, Hotel Greeters of America, representing hotels in Harrisburg, York, Carlisle, Gettysburg, Hanover and other nearby towns, will travel over historic southern Pennsylvania on Friday March 31.

Historic places in Gettysburg, Mechanicsburg, Boiling Springs and Mt. Holly Springs will be visited. Stops are planned at Michaux forest reserve, the White Squaw mission in Buchanan valley and Caledonia park.

At Chambersburg the club will be the guests of Frank Veener, manager of the Washington hotel.

Meetings of the Charter and its Auxiliary will be held at 5 p. m. at the Washington hotel and will be followed by a joint meeting of the Travel club. "See America First" will be the theme of this meeting.

At 7:00 p. m. dinner will be served. A member of the Franklin county bar will address the diners on the history of Chambersburg. The dinner will be followed by dancing. Joseph Fitzgerald, of the Penn-Harris hotel, Harrisburg, is tour conductor.

This is the first of a series of tours of Pennsylvania planned to educate the hotel personnel to promote the idea of travel and the pleasures to be derived by knowing and seeing the historical and interesting places of Pennsylvania.

TO PREACH ON SUNDAY

The Rev. Harry F. Ecker, of Reading, will preach at the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian church on Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

LIONS CLUB FOR UPPER COUNTY REGION FORMED AT BIGLERVILLE

A Lions club was organized Thursday evening by the business and professional men in upper Adams county. Thirty-five members were enrolled. It will be known as the Upper Adams County Lions club with headquarters in Biglerville. Its members reside in Idaville, Aspers, Gardners, Bendersville, Peach Glen, Arendtsville and Biglerville.

Prior to the meeting a dinner was enjoyed by the group at Fidler's restaurant, Biglerville. There were delegations of Lions present from the following clubs: Shippensburg, Hanover, York, Dillsburg, New Oxford and Gettysburg.

Addresses were made by the district governor, Harry R. Lenker, of York; past district governor, "Bud" Smith, of Dillsburg; zone chairman, Edward Zinn, of Hanover, and past district governor, C. Paul Cessna and deputy district governor, G. N. Waters, both of Gettysburg.

These officers for the new club were elected: President, Leslie V. Stock, Biglerville school principal; first vice president, G. E. Miller; second vice president, H. Earl Pitzer; third vice president, Lloyd W. Kuhn; directors, Clair Fohl, Joseph Boyer, W. I. Raffensperger and H. C. Gulden; secretary-treasurer, Rowe Martin; tail twister, John Klinefelter, and lion tamer, Robert C. Noll.

Joint Charter Night

It has been announced that the Upper Adams County club and the recently formed New Oxford club, both of them sponsored by the Gettysburg Lions club, will hold a joint Charter Night on May 10 at Cross Keys inn. Ralph E. Arnold was named chairman of the Charter Night committee Thursday evening.

It will be the purpose of the Upper Adams County club to engage in community activities in its area, besides boosting and publicizing the apple industry.

The upper county club will be a unit of Lions International, a service organization with a total of more than 3,500 clubs in the United States. Last year a total of 34,963 activities were completed by these various clubs through the co-ordination of Lions International. Such activities are grouped under the following headings: Boys' and girls' work, citizenship and patriotism, civic improvements, community betterments, education, health and welfare, safety and sight conservation and blind work.

The new Lions club was sponsored by the Gettysburg club, which, during the sixteen years of organization has started most of the Lions clubs in this section of the state.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, April 4, at 6:30 o'clock in Fidler's restaurant, Biglerville.

The following members of the local club were in attendance: G. W. Lefever, R. Z. Oyler, Roy W. Wentz, William A. Beales, J. Milton Bender, C. Paul Cessna, M. P. Hartzell, L. C. Keefauver, R. H. Lippy, S. H. Moyer, Wilmer Roth, C. Ross Shuman, H. H. Thomas, G. N. Waters, Dr. R. D. Wickerham and J. Francis Yake, Esq.

Two Join Campaign for Office of Commissioner

Two more Adams county republicans today announced their candidacy for their party's nomination for the office of county commissioner, bringing to five the total number of G. O. P. candidates in the field with no democrats yet making formal declaration of their intention to run for the office. Each party will nominate two candidates for commissioner. Three will be elected.

George P. Taylor, Biglerville, R. D., Menallen township republican, made public announcement of his intention to campaign for commissioner. Mr. Taylor is a farmer and fruit grower. He was born and reared in Menallen township.

The other new office seeker is J. Arthur Boyd, a former Littlestown tax collector and an auctioneer for 19 years. He was tax collector from 1930 to 1938 in Littlestown, where he resides. He has never sought county office before.

H. S. DEBATERS BEAT HANOVER

The Gettysburg high school negative debating team defeated the Hanover high debaters in a forensic match at Gettysburg college Thursday evening and thereby qualified to represent the southern section in the finals at Gettysburg college on Saturday, April 1.

Opposing the local team will be the winner of the Carlisle, Camp Hill and Mechanicsburg triangle.

Crust 'Secrets' Will Be Told at Cooking School

Once there was a short story about a gloomy bride who was in mourning because her pie crust was "too long."

Perhaps that bride already has checked off the four dates, next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, when she will join the parade to The Gettysburg Times' free cooking school in the Hotel Gettysburg annex, Carlisle street. If so, she will learn how to make that pie crust that men enjoy, for a series of personality pies, framed in flaky, good-to-the-last-crumb crust, will be among the daily food features.

Bewildering to this bride and to many a more experienced homemaker, is the fact that she must be cook, marketer, laundress, general maid and occasional hostess, rolled into one supposedly—tireless package. What to do first, and how to do it?

The Gettysburg Times counts on the years of planning and preparation that are built into its modern cooking school to furnish practical help to busy homemakers, faced by such diversified responsibilities. Mrs. Mabel C. Bowen, the specialist who will preside at this homemakers' exchange, brings a unique contribution to the community, developed by friendly contacts with audiences in every part of the country. Understanding of household problems, gleaned from those contacts, has been rounded out by personal investigation and years of scientific training.

Statistics reveal that many a homemaker, whose every minute is at a premium, is not getting the most in value and efficiency from

CHURCH GROUP 70 YEARS OLD

On Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal church the local auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary society will observe the seventieth anniversary of its founding by presenting an historical pageant entitled, "It Happened in Seventy Years."

The participants, in the order of their appearance, follow: Presiding officer, Mrs. Florence Grinder, who is president of the local society; "Mrs. Butler," Mrs. Lila Craig; "Mrs. Parker," Mrs. Milton R. Remmel; missionary woman, Helen Paxton; little light bearer, Patty Scott; king's herald, Jack Chamberlain; standard bearer, Lois Kidwell; college student, Mary Jane Chamberlain; Wesleyan service guild, Thelma Coulson; a young man, Jack Hill, and secretary, Verna Kitzmiller.

The opening worship service will be conducted by members of the Standard Bearer society, which is the young women's organization of the Women's Foreign Missionary society. Miss Margaret McMillan will give a reading during this part of the service. Miss McMillan is directing the dramatization. The public is invited to the service.

Editor of Church Paper To Preach Easter Sermon

The Rev. Dr. Raymond Veh, Harrisburg, editor of the "Evangelical Crusader" and a member of the board of directors of the state Christian Endeavor Union, will deliver the sermon at the fourth Easter Dawn service to be held Easter morning under the auspices of the Adams County Christian Endeavor Union.

The theme of the address to be delivered at the service in St. James Lutheran church beginning at 6 o'clock will be "The Triumph of Easter."

Five county pastors will participate. The invocation will be given by the Rev. J. M. Myers, Grace Lutheran pastor. Scripture will be read by the Rev. Paul Beard, Mt. Joy Lutheran pastor, and the offering will be received by the Rev. Seth C. Morrow, pastor of the Gettysburg Presbyterian church. Prayer will be offered by the Rev. Dwight F. Putman, pastor of College Lutheran church here, and the Rev. Howard S. Fox, Trinity Evangelical Reformed church pastor, will pronounce the benediction.

Special music will include vocal duets by Miss Pauline Ruggles and Mrs. Catherine Snader, Littlestown. They will sing "Alone" and "Open the Gates of the Temple."

The Rev. Robert B. Rau, Gettysburg, will be the organist, and Professor Charles Yost, Biglerville, will serve as song leader. Eight members of the board of officers of the county Union will be the ushers.

Arrangements for the service were announced by Raymond Menges, retiring president of the county Union.

153 PRESENT AT F.F.A. BANQUET; DR. CLINE TALKS

One hundred and fifty-three persons attended the annual banquet of the South Mountain chapter of the Future Farmers' of America Thursday evening in the Arendtsville Vocational school building.

Clarence Oyler, president of the F. F. A., presided and was in charge of the opening and closing ceremonies of the chapter. Richard Lighter, supervisor of agricultural education in Adams county, was master of ceremonies.

A financial report of the trip made last summer by 24 boys under the supervision of Charles A. Smith, instructor of agriculture, was given by Bruce Raffensperger. The group traveled to California last year.

Robert Kane told of the highlights of the trip and of the interesting places visited.

A chorus of F. F. A. boys presented several selections and these were followed by a short talk by Marsby C. Little, assistant superintendent of public schools in Adams county.

Mr. Smith spoke briefly on the value of home projects.

Dr. Cline Talks

Dr. Thomas L. Cline, of the Gettysburg college faculty, was the guest speaker of the evening. He spoke on "Agriculture Conditions in England as Compared to Those of the United States." In his address he outlined what the boys and girls of the future will be in respect to character.

Clyde Orner offered a guitar solo. An instrumental duet was presented by Orner and Richard Fetters.

Herbert E. Bryan, vocational director at the Arendtsville school, made a short talk.

The program was closed by the F. A. A. ceremony and the flag salute.

The banquet was served by 25 girls of the freshman and sophomore classes. Included on the menu were meat loaf, sweet potatoes, peas, salad and home made ice cream prepared by the F. F. A. boys.

James Scott Cairns, Springs avenue, has returned from a business trip to Richmond, Virginia.

Administration Bonds Filed in Two Estates

Administration bonds in the estates of two countians were filed Thursday afternoon at the office of Register Quintin D. Rebert in the court house.

John E. Brown, Fairfield, is the administrator of the estate of the late Robert S. Reindollar, Fairfield, whose estate is valued at about $300 in personal property and $2,000 in real estate.

Papers also were filed in the estate of the late Roy M. Raffensperger, Butler township, by Mrs. Elsie B. Raffensperger, Butler township, widow of the deceased. The estate is valued at $250 in personal property. No real estate is listed.

MUSSELMAN CO. HOST TO COUNTY TOMATO RAISERS

The C. H. Musselman canning company of Biglerville was host to a large number of Adams county tomato growers and their families at the annual banquet Thursday evening in the Bendersville community hall. Approximately 140 persons attended.

M. T. Hartman, county farm agent, presided as toastmaster.

J. M. Huffington, vegetable specialist, and George Zundel, pathologist, both of State college, were present and gave talks. Both addresses covered various phases in growing plants. Treatment of the soil, transplanting plants and fighting blights were outlined and pictures shown of how the work can be accomplished effectively.

Eleven gold watches were awarded to farmers producing 10 or more tons of tomatoes per acre on a plot of at least two acres.

Glenn Slaybaugh, Biglerville R. D., was given the first prize for having averaged 15 tons per acre on a five-acre plot. The value of the total crop was estimated at $1,244.

It was decided that in the future the requirements for receiving a gold watch would be raised. Five acres was fixed as the minimum number of acres to be farmed.

It was revealed that the Musselman company is one of two in the country using the highest average of United States grade No. 1 tomatoes.

William Ketterman and company, of York, furnished the musical entertainment during the banquet.

Spring Breezes Send Mercury To 79 Degrees

Spring temperatures arrived in all their glory today as the thermometers of Dr. Henry Stewart recorded 79 degrees at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for the highest mark of the year. On February 20 a high of 71 degrees was reached.

High temperatures were common throughout the state today and continued mild weather is forecast for Saturday. The low Thursday night was 33½ degrees.

3 CHILDREN, AT PLAY, START FIRE THAT SPREADS TO BARN NEAR HERE

Fire which spread from straw set ablaze by three youngsters playing about a fireplace they had built with loose bricks destroyed a bank barn, badly damaged smaller buildings and threatened a dwelling house in Straban township shortly before noon today. The loss was estimated at about $3,000.

The blaze occurred on the former Samuel Allison farm, three miles east of here along the Hanover-Gettysburg road. The farm was purchased a year ago by Mr. and Mrs. Julius White, who came here from Lanesville, West Virginia.

Three White children—Jesse, 12; Lawson, 10, and Agnes, seven—admitted they had been playing with fire near the southern end of the barn. The fire they set spread in dry grass to a straw stack 10 feet away. Beside the straw stack was a leanto shed against the end of the barn. The stack was burned and the shed levelled while the flames spread to the barn which measured about 40x60 feet.

Mrs. White, who was alone in the house, learned of the blaze when the children came running in crying that the barn was on fire. Her calls for help were heard at the C. W. Kint home nearby.

Save Other Buildings

While Theodore and Charles Kint hurried to the White buildings, a call for the Gettysburg and Bonneauville fire companies was telephoned from the Kint home. Gettysburg firemen arrived first and found the barn beyond saving. The Boneauville company arrived a few minutes later and aided the Gettysburg firemen in saving a half dozen small buildings close to the blazing barn.

Ten minutes after the firemen arrived the upper section of the barn started to collapse and a sudden shift in the wind endangered the dwelling house and other buildings north and east of the barn. A line of hose was laid from Cress's run, about 500 feet to the east. The main line of water was turned on the barn while supplies from booster tanks of the Bonneauville and Gettysburg trucks were used to put out flames that were shooting from roofs and walls of a chicken house, hogpen and a smokehouse near the dwelling.

Some Machinery Consumed

Before a brisk wind flames were carried through dry grass for a considerable area about the buildings.

The Kint youths pushed the White automobile to safety from a shed at one end of the barn and then after chasing a horse, cow and calf to safety, broke open a machine shed door and pulled several pieces of farm equipment out of danger. Other pieces stored in the upper section of the barn were consumed.

While the metal roof on the brick dwelling house prevented it from catching, three chicken houses and several other smaller sheds were saved only after being damaged by the fire. About a ton of hay and some corn fodder burned.

A toy pistol and two pairs of charred children's shoes and a burned leather jacket led to questioning of the three children. They told of playing "cowboy" around the barn and strawstack and admitted they had started a fire in the semicircle of bricks they had built. They would not say who had struck the match. Mrs. White said she had forbidden them to play with matches.

Julius White was not at home when the fire occurred. He is a member of C.C.C. camp No. 1327, near Lancaster and is expected home this evening. He is a World war veteran.

Mrs. White said the barn was insured.

LOWER TAX ON PAYROLL HINTED BY MORGANTHAU

Washington, March 24 (AP) — Secretary Morgenthau, speaking in behalf of "business recovery," proposed today to lift from "American productive enterprise" the burdens of tax increases in the old age insurance system.

"At the present stage of business recovery," he told the house ways and means committee, "it might be well to change the payroll tax schedule to keep the levies lower than had been scheduled for the next three years.

"In periods of incomplete business recovery like the present," he said in testimony giving Treasury approval to proposals advanced particularly by business men, "the contributory old age insurance system should be so financed as to have the least possible deterring effect on business."

Specifically, Morgenthau presented three alternative proposals to cut down the tax rate now planned for employers and employes alike in the near future.

At the White House, President Roosevelt backed up Morgenthau's suggestions and said the administration was working on a change in the social security reserve provision, with the view of restricting this fund to a protective amount sufficient only to take care of old age payments over a period of from three to five years.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference the existing reserve provision had been properly criticized because it involved the possibility of an unlimited reserve.

He added, however, that it was not true the government was going to build up a $40,000,000,000 reserve.

Morgenthau gave his testimony just before leaving for a vacation in the south.

U. S. Court Accepts Testimony of Wife Against Former Spouse

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP)—A 300-year-old law that husband and wife cannot testify against each other in criminal cases does not apply to divorced couples, says the United States circuit court of appeals.

The tribunal's decision was given in upholding the liquor law conviction of Batiste Gonella, of Erie, whose divorced wife, Anna, was the principal witness against him at his trial. He was sentenced to a year and a day.

Gonella sought to have the conviction set aside on the ground his trial judge erred in permitting his former wife to be a witness.

Said Judge Albert B. Maris in the court's opinion:

"This fiction that a husband and wife are one arose in medieval England in the 16th century, and while it still survives to some extent in the law of property x x it is in hopeless conflict with the modern conception of the proper status of married women and has consequently almost wholly lost its place in our law."

Famous Transport In War Sold for Junk

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP)—The U. S. S. Mercy, known to thousands of American "doughboys" as the transport on which they rode to France, has been sold for junk.

The vessel, which carried the first detachment of the A. E. F. overseas six weeks after the United States entered the World war, was bought by the Boston Metal company and taken to Baltimore.

During her war career, the Mercy made six trips across the Atlantic and one to the bottom of the sea.

The vessel sank after a collision on her second trip to Europe a few miles out of New York harbor, but the 2,700 American troops and 500 Red Cross nurses aboard were saved. Because of the shortage of ships during wartime, the Mercy later was salvaged.

The Mercy was brought to the Philadelphia Navy yard at the close of the war. Later she was used as a floating "hotel" for transients.

Wealthy Man Killed in Argument Over Mortgage

Mount Pocono, Pa., March 24 (AP) —Corporal George Barkauskas of the state police said Stewart Brodt, 70, a wealthy Monroe county resident, was shot down and killed in the street today a short distance from his store.

The corporal said Charles Richards, former proprietor of a local restaurant was being held. He surrendered himself at the Mount Pocono sub-station of the motor police.

Barkauskas said his preliminary investigation indicated the shooting occurred during an argument over a mortgage that Brodt held on a building owned by Richards. The building was destroyed by fire last November.

6 CONVICTS EXECUTED

Columbia, S. C., March 24 (AP)—Six convicts were executed at the state penitentiary early today for the slaying of J. Oil Sanders, the prison guard captain, in an escape attempt, December 12, 1937. The executions took just 48 minutes.

Intelligent instruction on how to get 100 per cent efficiency from those mechanical servants, which the average household now takes for granted, is an important part of every school program. Mrs. Bowen has made a thorough study of the latest developments in labor-saving equipment and she will show how the appliances in actual use in her fascinating stage kitchen have been simplified, stepped up and scientifically adapted to meet the need-of-the-hour.

Audiences in the hotel annex will have a constant procession of good things to watch each school day, while they hear questions on many subjects answered, and sniff the tantalizing fragrance of delicious foods that are created from A to Z, in plain view.

Free recipe sheets, distributed daily, will suggest cures for menu monotony long after the school is over. Permanent reminders, too, will be the "grand" awards lined up for distribution on the final day, next Friday.

Also on the gift list at the free school are daily market bags, filled with useful food products, and the demonstration dishes made at each program.

Guests at the school will want to meet and remember the friendly firms that are joining with the Gettysburg Times in this community undertaking.

Sign up a cooking school party for next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings in the annext. The sessions will start at 7:30 o'clock daily. The doors will open at 6:30 o'clock.

During 1938 North Carolina acquired 120 new industries, including 42 hosiery mills, and 68 plant additions of which 36 also were for hosiery.

Anderson to Address Hunters in Pennville

The York-Adams County Game and Fish association completed final plans for its sixth anniversary night, at a meeting held in Hanover Wednesday evening. The annual observance will be conducted Wednesday, April 5, in the Friendship Fire company hall in Pennville. The meeting will be open to the public.

Principal speakers for the evening will be R. C. Anderson, game protector for Adams county; W. C. Stevens, game protector for York county, and A. L. Ganster, deputy game protector for York county.

The annual election of officers for the ensuing year will be held at this meeting. A feature of the entertainment for the evening will be the showing of a number of reels of moving pictures relative to wild game life.

MINOR COLLISION

A car operated by Samuel Kitay, Pittsburgh, struck a coupe operated by Mrs. G. N. Waters, Gettysburg R. 4, as the latter drove from a parking zone in the second block of Baltimore street about 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. Borough Officer Charles W. Culp investigated. Neither car was badly damaged and no one was hurt.

START CAMPAIGN

Boy Scouts of troop 79 of the St. James Lutheran church today started a magazine-selling campaign. Officials of the troop announced that the sales by the scouts are authorized by them. They pointed out that the scouts were not to be confused with other magazine solicitors.

FACES CODE VIOLATION

Willis Snyder, Littlestown R. 2, was charged today before Justice of the Peace William D. Brown, Hunterstown, with driving a car without Pennsylvania registration plates. State motor police from Gettysburg made the arrest.

Where Killer Battled Wyoming Posse

Bear Tooth mountain (background) near Cody, Wyoming, is believed to be the hiding place of Earl Durand, 26-year-old raw-meat eating fugitive who escaped from a Cody jail, kidnaped a deputy and killed two officers.

Yale Professor to Lecture at College

The annual Stuckenberg lecture at Gettysburg college will be given next Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in Brua chapel by Dr. H. Richard Niebuhr, a professor in the divinity school of Yale university.

His subject will be "Religion and Social Change."

Mrs. Harry N. Trostle entertained the members of the Blue Ribbon club Thursday afternoon at her home in Arendtsville. The next meeting of the club will be held in two weeks with Mrs. Paul Hartman.

Miss Myrna Sheely, of Ardmore, will spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Sheely, of Arendtsville.

Mrs. Lloyd W. Kleinfelter, accompanied by her daughter, Barbara, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. U. S. Kleinfelter, of Biglerville, will spend the week-end in Pittsburgh with her brother, D. C. Becker.

Mrs. E. A. Meyer entertained the members of the O. T. T. club Thursday evening at her home in Biglerville.

The Biglerville Parent-Teachers' association will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. Features of the program will be a talk by the Rev. Dwight F. Putman, Gettysburg, and the presentation of a one-act play, "Pink and Patches." The nominating committee will be appointed at this time.

Miss Jane Rice, Biglerville, and her house-guest, Miss Frances Moss, Orlando, Florida, will attend the interfraternity dance at Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster, this evening.

BENDERSVILLE COUPLE MARRIED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hoffman quietly celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Bendersville on Tuesday. They received a large number of congratulatory cards from friends.

The couple was married at the home of Mrs. Hoffman's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wolf, near Arendtsville. Mr. Hoffman is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hoffman, Arendtsville. The late Rev. T. Koser performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Clayton Jester and their son, Billy, of Biglerville, are spending the week-end at Pittsbugrh where Mr. Jester is transacting business. They are guests of Mr. Jester's brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jester, formerly of Gettysburg, during their stay in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eckert have moved from the bungalow at Guernsey which was formerly the club house of the Quaker Valley Country club and is now owned by Harry Rouzer to the Crist Guise apartment in Arendtsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Rouzer's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lower have moved from Smithsburg, Maryland, to the property vacated by the Eckerts.

NATIONALISTS READY TO TAKE OVER MADRID

Hendaye, France, (At the Spanish Frontier), March 24 (AP)—The Spanish nationalists made ready today to accept a virtually unconditional surrender by the Madrid government which would end the 32-month-old Civil war and the long seige of the republican capital.

It was reported that a Madrid radio speaker had said surrender of Madrid was but "a question of minutes" but this was denied in Madrid by Defense Minister General Segismundo Casado.

At Rome the newspaper Il Piccolo, in a dispatch from Burgos, said the surrender of Madrid to Generalissimo Franco, nationalist leader, was planned for Saturday.

(The dispatch said that a Madrid delegation which arrived by plane at Burgos Thursday to negotiate the surrender undertook today to disarm the Madrid district, where defense lines had been mined weeks ago in anticipation of nationalist assault).

Obvious plans for transfer of Madrid authority from the hands of the defense council under General Jose Miaja which seized power March 5 were being made by both republicans and nationalists.

In Madrid a newspaper campaign was started to create a favorable atmosphere for the surrender. The press called peace the greatest of victories.

Plans for capitulation of Madrid after more than 28 months of siege were reported so complete that arrangements had been made for erection of loudspeakers in the principal plazas to provide music for dancing in the streets.

At Burgos, Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, France's World war hero ambassador to nationalist Spain, presented his credentials today to Generalissimo Franco.

He told the generalissimo France and Spain "are animated by the single desire of living together in independence and peace."

Franco received the ambassador in the regional military headquarters and told him:

"Friendship among nations is not a thing of caprice, which may be dictated, but a faithful reflection of their past and of reciprocal esteem created in the course of the years."

Seek Formation of Negro N. G. Unit

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP).—A new move to enlist a battalion of negro infantrymen in the Pennsylvania National Guard was underway in the legislature today.

The idea, advanced many times since the World war, was put into legislative form a second time this year by Rep. Edwin F. Thompson (D-Philadelphia) and received the approval of the house committee on military affairs Thursday.

The bill carries a $250,000 appropriation.

A similar measure was made law under the Earle administration, but the battalion never was formed because congress did not authorize the additional troops or provide funds for equipping them.

Murphy Reports Spies Are Active in U. S.

Washington, March 24 (AP) — Foreign spies were reported by Attorney General Murphy today to be becoming more active in the United States, but he added that government investigators are ready to deal with them.

Murphy said a counter-espionage committee formed several months ago at the instigation of President Roosevelt had evidence on the subject, but he declined to tell reporters what activities had been uncovered.

Murphy said he would be glad to make public the results of the Justice department investigation of nazi activities in this country. The department was asked to send the report to congress in a resolution submitted to the house Thursday by Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the committee on un-American activities.

Flier Killed as Plane Crashes in Maryland

North Beach, Maryland, March 24 (AP).—Lieut. E. E. Holcombe was killed early today when his Army pursuit plane, making a routine night flight from Langley Field, Virginia, crashed. His body was found near the wreckage beneath his partially opened parachute.

A posse of volunteers were directed to the tobacco field near here by Pvt. F. M. Ridenour, who said he had parachuted to safety on Lieutenant Holcombe's command when the plane's fuel supply ran low while they sought a landing field.

12 TRIALS DELAYED

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP) — District Attorney Carl B. Shelley said today that trials of twelve high democrats in the campaign charges case had been continued "subject to the call of the district attorney." Shelley declined to indicate when the trials would start but said petit jurors for the March term of Dauphin county court would be excused today subject to recall. Court attaches said that was an unusual procedure.

TOSSERS SPEND TIME TELLING OF OPERATIONS

By GAYLE TALBOT

Baton Rouge, March 24 (AP) — Not in my experience as a combination consulting surgeon and sports writer down here this spring have I run into a couple of finer scars than those being exhibited by Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher of the New York Giants.

Of course, it's a rare pitcher nowadays who doesn't like to sit and tell you about his operation. The club with the best elbow surgeon practically always wins the pennant. So when I say that Hubbell and Schumacher got a couple of mighty fine jobs done on them it's not as though I were speaking from hearsay.

In some respects, Hubbell's operation was the most spectacular of them all. At least, his surgeon made much the longest incision I've seen — fully eight inches — and removed a hat-full of spurs, whereas some of the convalescents who talk loudest of their experiences on the table didn't boast more than one or two spurs to begin with.

"My operation was different from Hal's," said Hubbell. "He opened my elbow up down the outside and then scraped clear around to the sides of my arm, getting out those pieces of bone that caused me that terrific pain last season.

"Now, Hal's operation was more like Johnny Allen's, from what I've heard of Allen's. It was on the inside, see, and didn't require but about a two-inch incision."

Though I hated to change the subject, I finally had to ask both of them if they thought their operations had cured their salary arms. This is fairly important in a baseball way, because if Hub and Hal can come back and pitch like they once did the Giants will be a real factor in the coming National league race. Otherwise you can forget about them.

"I'll say this much: It's silly to think that you can cut open anybody's arm and scrape around and take out a lot of stuff and still have as good an arm as it ever was. It doesn't make sense. I'll be happy if I can get back in there regularly, but I'm not counting on it until I try bearing down for the first time."

"I felt great today," said Schumacher. "Not a bit of pain. It was all I could do to keep from cutting loose with my fast one.'

Lakeland, Fla. — Lew Mandell, the perennial rookie, has made his annual visit to the Detroit Tigers' training camp, but as usual couldn't persuade manager Del Baker to add him to the mound staff. Mandell makes the rounds of the southern camps each spring. From here he headed for Bartow, temporary home of the Indianapolis Indians.

San Benito, Tex. — After two years of life on the (baseball) farms Elmer Burkhart apparently has won himself a place on the Philadelphia Phillies pitching corps. In his last ten innings against the St. Louis Browns and Toledo Mudhens Burkart has hurled shutout ball and yielded only three hits.

Lake Charles, La. — Dick Siebert apparently has solved the first base worries of Connie Mack. Injured near the end of the 1938 campaign after coming to the Philadelphia Athletics from Columbus in midseason, Siebert is fielding and hitting in his old form.

Tampa, Fla. — Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds has to keep a figurative rope around pitcher Lee Grissom on the bases, but he is planning to give a free rein to Bill Werber, his new third baseman. "I'm going to let him run during the exhibition games," said McKechnie, "without waiting for the steal sign." Werber stole 19 bases for the Philadelphia Athletics last year.

St. Petersburg, Fla. — The world champion New York Yankees are proving a real magnet for fans along the exhibition circuit. In 12 games they have played before a total of 25,659 spectators. Thursday Joe DiMaggio broke loose with two home runs, his first of the season. He already had six doubles and four triples and has driven in 16 runs with a batting mark of .429.

San Bernardino, Calif. — A little awed by their new found batting power, which was good for four home runs Thursday, the Chicago Cubs sought to humble the Pittsburgh Pirates today for their fifth exhibition victory in seven starts. The cubs are batting over .300. Joe Marty got two of the homers and a triple Thursday as the Cubs nosed out the Chicago White Sox 6-5 in 10 innings.

"CAREFREE" MONEY

Bethlehem, Pa., March 24 (AP)—Carfare is carfare to Mayor Robert Pfeifle. Two men on the street asked him for money to pay their "fare to Allentown"—and got it. But instead of hunting a trolley car, they ducked into the nearest taproom. The mayor saw them and called police, who arrested the pair for panhandling.

LOOKING AROUND

FRED WRIGHT, guard on the Gettysburg high school basketball team during the last season, was recently chosen on the first team of an all-conference quintet picked for the Waynesboro Record Herald. Hanover's champions placed Weaver, center; Haas, forward, and Seibert, guard. Black, of Hershey, was picked as the other forward. Don Fissel, Maroon center, was named to the third team while Carl Oyler was also placed on the third team at forward. Bob Hartman and Bill Everhart received honorable mention.

* * *

Prospects for a good Dickinson college baseball team this season are bright with seven veterans trying out for positions. Coach Dick MacAndrews has the following lettermen: Wilson, catcher; Kerfoot, first base; Campbell, second base; Shenk, shortstop; Hendrickson and Padjen, outfielders, and Keating, pitcher.

* * *

The Franklin Township Consolidatel school basketball teams turned in fine records during the last season. The boys won seven games while losing but two and the girls captured six of nine tilts. Dorsey Shultz coached the teams.

* * *

FIVE lettermen will form the nucleus of Coach "Pete" Beeson's Gettysburg college track team this season. Those who reported for the initial workouts this week include Deardorff, shotput and discus; Hangsterfer, hurdles; Yovicsin, broad and high jump, and discus, and Utz and Deardorff, quarter and half-mile. Other promising candidates are Fulmer and Whetstone, sprinters; Beidleman, high jumper; Mizell, broad-jumper and Fahrer, distance runner. Among those working out from the freshman class are Freedman, Love, Jones, Day, Fife, Sohnleitner, Kowalewski and Ezekiel.

* * *

Reports have it that George Kennell, Greenmount, one of the stalwarts on the Gettysburg independent baseball team for the last few seasons, will receive a tryout with the Federalsburg professional team of the Eastern Shore league this spring.

* * *

Dick Dunkel's national basketball survey rates the Gettysburg college quint as eighty-fourth in standing. The survey rates Villanova, Pittsburgh and Waynesburg as the strongest teams in Pennsylvania in that order.

* * *

BASEBALL managers hoping to place an entry in the Adams county league this season had better make arrangements to have representatives present at the meeting Monday evening for after that meeting no new entries will be admitted.

ANTI-NAZI BILL TO BE CHANGED

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP).—Amendment of a bill designed to keep "un-American" groups from drilling in Pennsylvania, but which also would hit veterans' drum corps and lodge drill teams, was predicted today.

The measure, approved Thursday by the house committee on military affairs, would ban activities of all societies "whose purposes are military or semi-military," or which drill their members with or without military equipment, unless they had permits from the adjutant general.

The sponsor, Rep. Samuel M. Rosenfeld (D-Philadelphia) said he had in mind not only nazis but advocates of "any other 'ism' except Americanism."

Rep. Ray E. Taylor (R-Dauphin), vice chairman of the house committee, and a member of the American Legion's state executive committee, pointed out:

"As it stands, the bill would hit the Shrine, the Tall Cedars, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars drum corps, and lots of organizations like that.

"Of course, I don't think there's a chance that the adjutant general would refuse permits to such groups as those.

"The purpose of the bill is fine. We put it out to see what reaction we will get, and then it probably will be sent back to committee for amendment."

Court Approves Sale of Phila. Gas Works Rentals

Pittsburgh, March 24 (AP) — The Pennsylvania state Supreme court today approved a proposal by the Philadelphia city council to sell future rental from the city's gas works to stabilize city finances.

The court dismissed a taxpayer's suit attacking the constitutionality of the proposed sale of the rentals for 17 years and 4 months, to the Philadelphia corporation for $50,000,000.

PLAY SATURDAY FOR PIAA TITLE

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP)—Pennsylvania's two best P.I.A.A. high school basketball teams—Lower Merion and Homestead—clash here Saturday for the state title in a game that should be worth going miles to see.

A near capacity crowd of nearly 10,000, including more than 1,000 from Pittsburgh, is expected to jam into the spacious University of Pennsylvania Palestra to watch the teams battle for the right to replace Hazleton as state P.I.A.A. champs.

The Homestead squad, coached by 25-year-old Paul Birch, arrived Thursday night and promptly set up headquarters at a West Philadelphia hotel. A light workout was planned today and possibly Saturday morning.

Lower Merion's decisive victory over Williamsport last Tuesday, compared to Homestead's tooth-and-nail fight to nose out Erie Academy, established the Philadelphia quintet as favorite despite Coach Bill Anderson's statement, "I don't see how they can miss beating us."

Flashes of Life

By The Associated Press

SWELL TIME

Greensboro, N. C.—A 19-year-old youth had served but one day of a 30-day sentence for drunkenness when there was a surge of activity to free him. The jailer eloquently besought the judge to free the prisoner. Other inmates were with him to a man. The judge concurred after he discovered—The prisoner had the mumps—and the jail was crowded.

EXPENSIVE RIDE

Indianapolis, Ind.—F. Gail Geiger drove a truck to a filling station and it cost Wilbur Stackhouse and Russell Paxton $124 and turned the neighborhood into a treasure hunt. Stackhouse and Paxton told police they had counted out $130 onto the running board of the truck, then left it to step into an office. Geiger drove it away, the bills flew off, and only six were returned, despite the search by neighbors.

CALL OF THE TAME

Denver—Security had more appeal than liberty to one Denver deer. The animal was one of 20 released in the mountains to reduce the zoo herd. Somehow it found its way through miles of streets back to the zoo—at mealtime.

SILLY GOOSE

Concordia, Kas.—Davey Hubert, 11, stalked game the hard way—with a kite. A goose became tangled in Davey's kite string, fell with a broken wing. Davey's father, Eugene Hubert, applied a splint. He plans to release the bird when the wing mends.

COSTLY IMPULSE

Evanston, Ill.—Sid Solinger, who believes that old saw about "ladies first" should have been discarded at the end of the horse and buggy era, came before Judge James M. Corcoran on a speeding charge. He explained that he sped past two women drivers because, whenever feminine motorists are in front of him, he is overwhelmed by an impulse to pass them. "That idiosyncrasy," said the jurist, "will cost you $11."

BOARD DENIES LOCKARD PLEA

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP)—The state pardon board today refused to recommend clemency for Roy Lockard, of Blair county, and Ernest Hipple, of Sullivan county convicted slayers, sentenced to die in the electric chair Sunday night.

Lockard, who has been given 16 respites, was convicted of the "spike" slaying of three-year-old Matthew Karmendi, in 1936.

Hipple pleaded guilty to slaying Mrs. Jennie D. Porter, 70-year-old housewife in her mountain home on February 7, 1938.

Hipple's attorney pleaded with the pardon board Thursday to spare his life on the ground that the 22-year-old mountaineer was a "moron" with a mental age of between 10 and 12 years.

Lockard's case was carried over from the administration of former Governor George H. Earle, who refused to sign his death warrant, claiming the Altoona man was mentally unbalanced.

He was convicted with Mrs. Margaret Karmendi, mother of the slain boy. The mother obtained two adtrial won a prison sentence.
ditional trials and on the third

Governor James, shortly after assuming office, issued another respite for Lockard and ordered his case reviewed again by the pardon board.

STOCK REPORT

New York, March 24 (AP) — Quiet buying ruled the stock market today and selected issues rose fractions to more than two points. A slow-down followed a moderately active opening and prices slipped from the best. Demand picked up somewhat later. Although the ticker tape frequently idled, leaders hovered around top marks near mid-day.

FAVORS CHANGE IN HEARING OF CRIMINAL CASES

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP)—A proposal to give defendants in all criminal cases except murder and manslaughter the option of waiving indictment by grand jury and leaving their fate to a judge is recommended by Rep. Robert Woodside, Jr., as a "short cut" in criminal court procedure.

Woodside, republican floor leader of the house, predicted the measure would "save counties a lot of money and the courts a lot of time." Furthermore, he said, defendants unable to raise bail would be spared long months of imprisonment while waiting for their cases to come up.

Woodside contended the plan would not tend to abolish the grand jury system, and that "it doesn't take away any of the defendant's rights."

"However," he said, "it will save a county like Dauphin at least a day of the grand jury's time; it will save time of the court, and the petit jury; it will permit trial between terms of court instead of making a person wait in jail until his case can be heard."

Using his own county of Dauphin, the assemblyman cited as an example:

"A man arrested early in June can't get his case up before the court until the September term; if he can't get bail, he has to stay in jail all summer, even though it might turn out that he's innocent. My bill would let him get prompt trial before a judge."

Woodside said his measure would carry out a recommendation of the commission headed by Senator Frank W. Ruth (D.-Berks) which made a study of court procedure in the state.

THE OWL AND MAN

"Yes," boasted man, "be all advised
The human race is civilized.
Forward from day to day it moves
And all it touches it improves.
It thinks, develops, plans and schemes,
Creates and fashions; hopes and dreams.
All other creatures, bird and beast
Are hopeless things to say the least."

An owl upon a tree near by
Heard out the speech and made reply:
"I'm just an owl," said he, "and so
There's much I'm not supposed to know.
These birds and beasts which you denounce
Of wisdom may not have an ounce,
But still as life goes winging by
We don't invent new ways to die.

"We're wild, untutored and untamed.
Perhaps we ought to be ashamed,
But no dumb creature as a class
Have yet invented poison gas
Or shells or bombs or flaming guns
By which to kill their finest ones.
We live and wait for death to come.
Perhaps that's why you call us dumb."

Dairymen Oppose Milk Price Cuts

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP) — Dairymen in widely-separated sections of Pennsylvania agreed today that price cuts ordered by the milk control commission would hit them severely.

Spokesmen for western Pennsylvania dairymen said Governor James told them he would insist on continuing milk control for the next two years.

The commission last month ordered dealers in the Pittsburgh area to cut the prices they charge consumers and the prices they pay to farmers.

It followed Thursday with reductions in the Scranton area.

Chairman Howard C. Eisaman had similar comments to complaints from farmers in both territories: that in the Pittsburgh district, the lower prices had increased consumption of fluid milk, which he said was the most profitable kind the farmers handle, and that the same effect should be noted in the Scranton territory.

However, H. W. Mumford, attorney for farmers in the northeastern Pennsylvania district, said at Scranton the new ten-cents-a-quart retail price there would be the lowest in the state and would bankrupt many dairymen.

WEATHER AND CROPS

Bad weather — drought, too much rain, hail, hot winds, storms, cold waves — is responsible for about 73 per cent of all wheat crop losses, according to a report of the federal Department of Agriculture. Droughts alone account for about 38 per cent of total wheat crop losses and thus are the major hazard facing wheat growers. Insect pests were rated as causing about nine per cent of total crop damage and plant diseases were charged with 17 per cent.

Today's Talk

—By George Matthew Adams—

AVOCATIONS

THE humdrum makes cowards and laggards of us all!

And no matter how important or great our work appears to us, it becomes a dull affair unless we have an avocation or sprinkle it with what today we term a "hobby." An all-meat meal isn't very interesting or digestible. It's the same with work.

The great producer is the great player, too!

Some time ago I had the privilege of spending a day on the boat of a very wealthy man, who has scattered over a part of the country the product of his genius in the shape of a string of great restaurants. I have often wondered how he kept feeding his restless brain. I found out. Every once in a while he runs off — and plays. On his boat he lives simply and happily, and mixes his life there with golfing on land, and fishing.

Every human being should have his "hobby" or avocation. And it doesn't take great means to have one either.

It is the proportion in which we enjoy and relish our avocation that make them of use to us. Quantity ofttimes makes for vulgarity.

It is just as important for a worker to quit his day promptly as it is that he should report promptly. For if he would become keen and awake, he must divide his mind — make roads through it for interesting detours.

We often marvel at the tremendous amount of actual work achieved by the "many-sided" man — but it's just that sort of a man who is able to accomplish much. The one-groove thinker or worker is always the most uninteresting and the person who gives the least to society. And when that one groove is worn to its bottom, where is there hope?

My friend, have a "hobby." An avocation will help you in your vocation.

'TARZAN' SLAYER OUTWITS POSSE, ESCAPES TRAP

Cody, Wyo., March 24 (AP)—Sniffing bloodhounds were counted on today to pick up the trail of Earl Durand, 26-year-old slayer of four, who fled his mountain stronghold 40 miles north of Cody before it could be blasted with Howitzer and trench mortar fire.

"I think we can pick up the trail with the hounds," said Sheriff Frank Blackburn after a 100-man posse had closed in on Durand's retreat and found him gone.

"If not, a bunch of us will stay up there until we get him," said the Park county sheriff, leader of the search for the elusive, eagle-eyed "Tarzan" who took to the northwestern Wyoming hill country a week ago Thursday night after killing two officers.

The bodies of Orville Linabary, 42, of Cody, and Arthur Argento, 46, of Meeteetse, Wyoming, were recovered late Thursday from an exposed slope below the natural fortress in Clarksfork canyon from which Durand had held possemen at bay for nearly 24 hours. The two possemen died of bullet wounds drilled in their abdomens by the sharpshooting fugitive soon after he hid in a clump of boulders and trees at the top of the slope.

Sheriff Blackburn said Durand slopped down sometime before daylight Thursday and took two rifles and a pair of shoes from his victims. He then crawled up the high ridge that had protected him from rear attack and vanished again into the hills.

The sheriff reduced his posse to 15 or 20 picked sharpshooters today—to give the fugitive fewer targets. Backing up the posse was a Montana National guard detachment equipped with a .377 millimeter howitzer and a three-inch trench mortar for use should Durand attempt another one-man stand.

Bill Garlow of Cody, 26-year old grandson of W. F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody, famous frontiersman, was exposed to Durand's fire during an early attempt to reach the fallen possemen.

"I wasn't nervous during the actual firing," Garlow related, "but was pretty jittery by the time I returned home.

"I felt like looking under the bed for the first time in my life."

Durand used only three rifle bullets when he shot and killed Undersheriff D. M. Baker and Town Marshal Charles E. Lewis of Powell, Wyoming, after escaping from the Cody jail a week ago Thursday night. He had been arrested the day before for killing an elk out of season.

Durand was known to be able to live indefinitely in the wilds, subsisting on the raw meet of wild animals.

The sheriff, weary but still determined to track down the renegade ranch hand who left a letter for him at a ranch challenging him to "have my head mounted and hang it up in the court house," said he believed Durand would not come down out of the hills again.

"We followed his tracks 300 yards up the side of the ridge," Blackburn said. "We wasted a lot of ammunition blazing things up ahead of us. He may have come down but I think he is still up there."

Blackburn said special Deputies Linabary and Argento apparently saw Durand "and attempted to seek cover."

"I don't believe they were over 40 feet from him when they were shot," the sheriff said. "He used both of their guns and both were broken when we found them."

NAB 3 BROTHERS

While on their way home Wednesday evening from a fishing trip three brothers from Orrtanna, R. D., were arrested on the Lincoln highway east of Chambersburg by the state motor police and were committed to jail.

Thursday morning they were arraigned before Magistrate Shirley J. Zarger, of Stoufferstown. Earl Shultz was charged by Patrolman J. L. Vent with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquoir, and was committed to jail for court in default of bond.

His brothers, Harold A. Shultz and Norman Shultz, were charged with disorderly conduct, and in default of fine and costs were committed to jail for ten days.

MULES STAGE "COMEBACK"

Allentown, Pa., March 24 (AP)—Mules are giving horses the "hee-haw" in Lehigh county. They are increasing in number, while horses are decreasing, a survey by county agent A. L. Hacker showed. From 1935 to 1937, the number of horses dropped from 4,948 to 4,850, while mules increased from 205 to 532. Mules are valued at $150 each and horses at $140, the survey disclosed.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

Coatesville, Pa., March 24 (AP)—School board officials got the cart before the horse, they admitted to city council in applying for permission to erect a new $600,000 school building. Construction had been underway for weeks, they said, before officials discovered they had neglected to obtain a permit.

PARENTS Build Up Your Child's Resistance

Little bodies must be healthy — Modern science has taught us how to keep them so. Sturdy inches are built with foods rich in the needed vitamins. Mother sees to it that bed-time is early — that little stomachs are not abused. All precautions against disease are taken.

The same thought should be applied toward the building of character. The same watchfulness should be directed against the evils of unhealthy thinking and harmful habits. Our complicated present day existence breeds troublesome germs of every description. More temptations lurk in the speed-mad, pleasure-loving money-grabbing whirl we call life than ever beset grandmother or grandfather.

Build up your child's resistance. See that it receives religious training. Many a jail-bird would not be in prison had some attention been given to the building of character in his boyhood. Many a suicide would now be alive had he or she been fortified spiritually against false concepts of life. Many a wrecked marriage would have been avoided had the principals been taught consideration and forbearance.

Take the child to Sunday School so that it may absorb the spiritual vitamins of honesty, brotherhood, chastity, righteousness and the love of God. Make the little ones see that their parents believe wholeheartedly in what the Sabbath School teaches. One way to do that — one way to lead children in the right direction is to

JAMES NEARER TO CONTROL OF PA. AUTHORITY

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP) — Governor James' drive to capture control of the General State Authority — and subsequently stop work on the Mt. Gretna prison — was halted at the half-way mark today, at least temporarily.

A bill to oust three democratic appointees was squeezed through the house by the republicans Thursday and placed in readiness for the senate next week.

Not before Wednesday, at the earliest, could the bill clear the senate and be signed by the governor; not until then could James replace the three democrats with republicans and gain the majority required to stop work on the maximum security prison.

James decided Thursday the project is "out." He said other state penitentiaries can take care of the hardened criminals it was intended to house.

Republicans mustered the bare constitutional majority of 105 votes required to pass the bill, after democrats demanded a verification of the roll call.

Rep. Herbert B. Cohen, democratic floor leader of the house and one of the authority members at whom the measure was aimed, asserted it was unconstitutional. Other members to be removed are Senator George Kunkel of Harrisburg — who said he never considered himself a member — and Austin E. McCollough, Lancaster editor.

In the legislature, taxing policies split the republican majority. A three-hour battle in caucus was followed by demands on the floor of the house for enactment of a two per cent state income tax on every Pennsylvanian earning more than $1,000 a year, and reduction of taxes on personal property and capital stock.

Rep. Herbert G. Gates (R-Armstrong) led the fight for his income tax bill, but finally permitted it to be placed on the postponed calendar.

Opponents of the measure, representing the administration and the party's leadership, stood by the eight bills to re-enact emergency taxes of the Earle administration. They were read a second time and left in position for final action in the house next Monday night. If approved there — and leaders expressed confidence they would be — the bills would go to the senate.

Some persons acquainted with General State Authority affairs questioned whether construction of the Mt. Gretna prison could be legally halted. They noted a previous legislature enacted a law requiring erection of the institution.

James himself debated whether such a move would be economical. Nearly $2,500,000 has been spent, and the governor has said it was possible the state also might have to pay contractors their anticipated profits.

The Welfare department has estimated about $100,000 a year could be saved in costs of maintaining the prison if it were not completed.

The governor indicated approval of the $3,000,000 boys' industrial school, nearing completion at White Hill, across the Susquehanna river from Harrisburg.

A bill intended to clamp down on nazi societies was approved by a house committee. Amendment was predicted because it could apply to such organizations as veterans' drum corps and lodge drill teams.

The same committee on military affairs reported out a measure to create a battalion of negro National Guard infantrymen. Such a battalion was authorized under a bill signed by former Governor Earle, but never was established because congress failed to grant its authorization.

Retired Littlestown Merchant Dies at 91

Jacob H. Simpson, retired merchant and cigar maker and one of Littlestown's oldest residents, died Thursday morning at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley B. Stover, East King street, Littlestown. Death was due to infirmities. He was aged 91 years.

Mr. Simpson was a charter member of Washington camp, No. 386, Patriotic Order Sons of America. The lodged marked its fiftieth anniversary recently. He also was a member of the Redeemer Reformed church, Littlestown.

Mr. Simpson's wife, the former Sarah Hull, died 28 years ago. Surviving are four children, Joseph, Lineboro, Maryland; William Simpson, Baltimore; Mrs. Clara Kuhn, Washington, and Mrs. Stover, with whom he lived; 12 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services on Saturday from the J. W. Little & Son funeral home, Littlestown, at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. Theodore J. Schneider, pastor of the Redeemer Reformed church, officiating. Interment in Mt. Carmel cemetery, Littlestown.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening between 7 and 9 o'clock.

Old Home Week Murder

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The Characters

Asey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth.
Konrad, a trooper.

Yesterday: Asey finds the trooper guarding the Randall house gagged and bound. A man is inside.

Chapter 17

TERTIUS PRETTYMAN

THIS time the man started to walk toward the sound before putting his light out. The instant he did that, Asey entered by the door and snapped on the trooper's torch.

"Reach," he said. "Reach, an' stand still."

To make it emphatic, Asey squeezed the trigger of the forty-five, unintentionally presenting a black eye to an unframed Currier and Ives lady tacked on a cross beam of the loft.

The trooper came dashing back. "Take your gun," Asey said. "It's on top of the desk. That's right. Continue to reach, feller, an' turn around."

It was not Mike Slade, or anyone he had ever seen before.

"Know him?" Asey asked the trooper.

'No," the trooper's voice was choked and hoarse, "but you can bet I will before I get through with him, the—"

"Delve in the gent's pockets," Asey said, "an' see if he happens to have any callin' cards with him."

To Asey's surprise and to the trooper's utter amazement, the first object to come from the man's breast pocket was a tooled leather case of calling cards.

"Ah," Asey said interestedly. "A socialite. What's the name?"

The trooper held the card up to the light. "It says—oh, but it's a fake. That can't be right! It says, 'Tertius Prettyman.'"

Tertius Prettyman. Asey thought back. That was Eloise Randall's boy friend. Old man Prettyman's son, at the point.

"Well, well, how do you do, Mr. Prettyman?" Asey said cordially. "My name is Mayo an' this gentleman you was so abrupt with is—what's your name? Konrad? This is Konrad, Mr. Prettyman. Konrad, take some of Mrs. Randall's mailin' cord an' tie up Mr. Prettyman, will you? There's a nice yard stick over there, an' if you was to put it under Mr. Prettyman's knees, Konrad, an' then lash his wrists an'—ah. You know. That's fine."

While Konrad trussed up Mr. Prettyman, Asey turned on two lamps and drew the curtains.

"Cosier, I always think" he said pleasantly as he strolled around the barn. "Now you know, Mary Randall has some fine stuff here. That's a good piece of early Israel Trask, that pewter. Too good to be kicking around here. And she's got good chests, too." He paused for a moment in front of one and surveyed the sewing basket on it. "You much of a hand for old chests, Mr. Prettyman? I got a corker home. Not a family piece. I found it in the dump, an' brought it home, an' they tell me it's seventeenth century—Prettyman, just exactly what is your basic an' underlyin' motive, anyway?"

"Just exactly what do you mean?" If his cool calm voice was any indication, Asey thought, this fellow was going to prove difficult, more difficult than he had first imagined. It was not the voice of anyone easily moved or easily bluffed. In fact, the fellow was definitely amused.

"What did you come after, Tertius?"

"Really, that's none of your business, don't you agree?"

Weak In A Blurred Way

Asey pulled out the forty-five and twirled it by the trigger guard.

"Wa-el," he drawled, "it d'pends largely on your point of view," he looked down at Prettyman, "an'—when did you write that policy?"

"Put that thing away," Tertius said. "It might go off again. What did you say? When did I what?"

"You know," Asey said, "you look awfully like a trussed chicken down there on the floor. In fact, you look plain silly. I asked you when, more or less, you wrote that policy for Mrs. Randall?"

Tertius smiled, but plainly the answer was beneath his dignity.

Asey looked at him thoughtfully. Someone had said — probably it was Zeb Chase, that Tertius was around fifty. You had to look twice to believe it, for he was slight and wiry. His hands and eyes gave him away, and to a certain extent, his face.

Asey studied the face. In general it was weak, weak in a blurred way, as though the mould had been used too many times. But there was nothing pliable about it. Mr. Prettyman, he guessed, was the sort of person who would probably pursue the wrong course, but he would pursue it with vigor to the end.

Old man Prettyman—Asey tried to remember about the family. He knew something about them, if he could only drag the details from his mind. Old Prettyman had made a fortune from some patent medicine. Everyman's Elixir, that was it. And he'd lost the fortune in some scheme like getting gold from seaweed, or silk purses from sows' ears, or something. Asey wished he had paid more attention to gossip, and to Billingsgate gossip in particular. Anyway, this Tertius had inherited a lot form his mother, and still more from his father's people. But Zeb Chase had said that he sold insurance, which meant that his inheritances had probably long since disappeared. He looked like the sort whose inheritances would disappear.

"Want him to talk?" Konrad inquired with a certain grimness.

"Don't bother, he'll get to it," Asey said.

"What's about a policy?" Konrad asked. "Whose policy? What policy? Where?"

"The policy our pal Tertius was hunting," Asey said. "Only he went hunting like a man, an' Mary Randall's a woman. She didn't bother to put it in her desk, or anywheres else special. She just stuck it in her sewin' basket, over on top of that oak chest there. You see, Konrad, Tertius sold her a nice life insurance policy, only it was a fake."

"It was a splendid policy," Tertius corrected him pleasantly. "A sterling policy. Mayo, you wrong me."

"Then why were you after it?"

"Say, I'll make him talk!" Konrad unstrapped his belt and prepared to remove his coat. "I'll show this—"

"Wait. Tertius, tonight you've busted into town property, you've assaulted a cop, stole his gun, an' you've c'mitted armed robbery. You—what's that? You didn't rob anything? Oh, don't be finicky with details. We'll fix that. You see, Tertius, d'spite your poise an' nonchalance, you're hardly in the driver's seat. Far from it. Now, will you talk? If you don't feel like it now, Konrad an' I can take you to the barracks, an I'll almost guarantee you'll talk there. Much easier to break down right now. Konrad, bring that policy over to me, will you?"

The Beneficiary

Tertius smiled. "Don't bother reading it, Mayo. I'll tell you something that'll make you wonder if you are in the driver's seat as much as you seem to think. The beneficiary is your little friend Jane Warren."

"So," Asey said, "so it is."

"Your little friend Jane. Oh, aren't you and Zeb Chase going to be sorry you happened in here tonight! Twenty-five thousand, double it for death by violence. Who's in the driver's seat, Mayo? Fifty thousand dollars does make such a nice motive, doesn't it? Roll it over on your tongue. Jane gets fifty thousand if Mary Randall dies by violence."

Asey smiled back at him, but the smile was somewhat forced.

"Saturday," Tertius went on, almost dreamily. "She gets the policy Saturday, because I bring it over then."

It flashed through Asey's mind that the shotgun had first gone into action Saturday night.

"On Monday," Teritus said, "she's killed. Life is a strange uncertain thing at best, isn't it? One never knows, does one? Here, as the saying so cheerily goes, today. Gone tomorrow. By the way, Mayo, yours is a perilous occupation. How are you fixed in case of accidents and whatnot?"

"Tertius," Asey said, "I begin to see. Eloise didn't take you home last night, did she? She dropped you here, an' you was goin' to walk back, but you got curious about the cars parked outside, an' so you looked into the matter. Guessed what was up, an' d'cided to make sure, so you go to Weston's desk where you know he keeps that lodger, you smirked like anything edger. Not findin' any ledger, you for the policy. Shall I guess why?"

"Could I have a cigarette? It's a bit awkward here, trussed up—don't you think you'd better stop playing games and let me go? Oh, I do. Definitely, my dear Sherlock."

"Why?"

Asey knew exactly what was coming. He had guessed it ten minutes ago, but he wanted more than anything to play for time.

"Well," Tertius said, "I'll tell you. You pretend to be a bumpkin, but old Captain Porter left you comfortably off. I've heard him and father talk about you. You're a Porter director, aren't you? And even if you weren't so richly endowed your friend Bill Porter is, isn't he? Yes. And Master Chase has all those beans. And you and Master Chase are keeping a murder secret, aren't you? Because of Jane Warren. Zeb likes Jane Warren. Need I really go on? It seems such a waste of time."

"How much," Asey inquired, "do you want?"

"Call it—oh, fifty thousand will cover it nicely," Tertius said. "I think fifty thousand will do."

Asey nodded. "An' your plan—of course, I'm puttin' it awful crude, an' I know it'll hurt you, but you had a nice plan, didn't you? You come to get the policy an' change the name, an' send in a notice dated—yes, I suppose you could of managed it somehow. An' after makin' Eloise the beneficiary—honest, that was a brain wave, Tertius. Eloise wants to be Mrs. Somebody, an' I shouldn't wonder if she hadn't jumped at you like a starvin' dog at a bone. An' then you'd have had fifty thousand to blow. Tertius, that was smart."

ALL NATIONS OF EASTERN BORDER REICH'S FRIENDS

Berlin March 24 (AP).—Incorporation of Memelland into greater Germany and negotiation of a Rumanian trade treaty have clinched the last links in a band of friendly neighbors along Germany's eastern frontier as a buffer against her potential foe, Soviet Russia.

For the first time since the World war Germans held today that they had only friends on the immediate east, from the Baltic to the Black sea.

Adolf Hitler, fuehrer of 80,000,000 persons in 245,000 square miles of territory, thus had improved Germany's central European position not only by solidifying his empire in the last year but also by diminishing the old German worry about a possible sudden destructive attack from the east.

The cession of Memelland, formally under Lithuanian sovereignty, brought little Lithuania into Hitler's arms through a non-aggression pact and an economic understanding. Rumania plugged a hole to the southeast through a far-reaching economic tieup with Germany.

As for the other and older links, the Polish-German non-aggression treaty still has several years to run, while Hungary has been working closely with the Rome-Berlin axis and has joined the anti-comintern pact.

Hitler arrived at Berlin on a special train at 1:30 p. m. (7:30 a. m. E.S.T.) but was not greeted with the fanfare of his previous homecomings.

The train brought Hitler from Swinemuende, his Baltic naval base where he landed shortly after 9 a. m. (3 a. m. E.S.T.) from the battleship Deutschland.

Informed quarters it was thought likely he soon would take an extended rest.

Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels were expected to go vacationing. Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering has gone back to resume an Italian sojourn.

Thus, informed sources predicted there would be no immediate startling developments in Germany's expansion.

Behind him in Memel, Hitler left a deeping mystery regarding his meaning when he told Memellanders that German wrongs now had been rectified "in the main."

The official text of his brief speech omitted these words and observers sought in the omission and the words themselves a key to his future intentions.

Stenographic reports and a preliminary unofficial version of the Memel address carried this sentence: "The harm which the rest of the world has caused had to be repaired by us and I believe we have already in the main arrived at an end to this unique process of reparation."

But the official text, released by the offiical German news agency, merely said: "The harm which the rest of the world has caused us ought to find an end x x."

Official sources said they were unable to explain the change. German editors said Hitler himself carefully reads the official reports of his talks before their release by the news agency.

In a decree issued aboard the Deutschland, the chancellor formally incorporated Memelland into the province of East Prussia.

ORRTANNA

Orrtanna—A number of friends were entertained on Monday evening at a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shully in observance of the twenty-second birthday anniversary of Willard Weaver. Those present were: The Misses Amanda Lochbaum, Elsie Newman, Louetta Sharrah, Anna Heintzleman, Justine Shulley, Veda Lochbaum, Larita Shulley, Willard Weaver, Mary Bucher, Donald Shulley, Raymond Lochbaum, Dorsey Lochbaum, Clarence Weaver and Mr. and Mrs. Shulley. Miss Veda Lochbaum and Raymond Lochbaum entertained the group with string music. Mr. Weaver received a number of gifts. Refreshments were served.

Kenneth Mickley, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mickley, Orrtanna R. D., arrived home last Friday after a trip through the midwest including Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska. Mickley had acompanied Wilmer Tate, Arendtsville, to Columbus, Ohio, in a truck on March 5 and upon arriving there decided to continue alone on a trip. He traveled by truck, car, bus, freight and passenger train. At Cody, Nebraska, he visited a ranch of 10,000 acres with 900 cows and 40 horses. Mickley's trip cost little more than $35.

A birthday dinner was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lockman, Orrtanna R. D., in celebration of Mrs. Lockman's birthday anniversary. Cards and Chinese checkers were played. Refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lockman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McDannell, Mrs. Laura Heintzleman, Mrs. Paul Deardorff, Mrs. Cora Sharrah, Elizabeth Heintzleman, Elise Newman, Louetta Sharrah, Martha Newman, Viola Lockman, Janet McDannell, Winifred Newman, Barbara Ann McDannell, Ivan Lochman, Dale Newman, Curvin Fiscel, Robert Deardorff, Herbert Newman, Russell Sharrah, Ross Deardorff, Paul Newman, Jr., Ralph Nary, Richard Sharrah and Clarence Lockman.

Bus Fire Hearing Before P.U.C. Ends

Public Utility Commissioner Richard J. Beamish announced Thursday he would ask the Pennsylvania motor police and the Department of Revenue to confer with representatives of the commission for the purpose of drafting safety regulations for the construction of motor buses.

The statement came shortly after Arthur H. Hull, attorney for the Valley Transportation company, completed his case in the hearings growing out of an investigation of a fire which destroyed one of the company's buses while carrying a full load of Lemoyne high school pupils to Biglerville, on February 14.

Hull's case was completed with the presentation of testimony by two expert witnesses and two employes. Witness for the transportation company offered no theory of the cause of fire to counter the commission's contention that it startedl from a faulty splice in a battery cable running along the under side of the bus floor.

ARGUMENTS DUE OVER SHIFTING OF U. S. BUREAUS

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Administration aides look for some first class arguments in President Roosevelts official family during the next few weeks when the re-shuffling of federal bureaus begins.

Experts on government re-organization say it will be next to impossible for the President to shift a bureau from one department to another without stirring up a hornets nest of protests from the department suffering the loss.

One of the first things the President is expected to do after signing the re-organization bill, now before a senate-house committee, is to combine the six investigating units operating under the treasury department into a single unit of 3,000 men. The six are the intelligence unit of the internal revenue bureau, the secret service, alcohol tax, narcotics law enforcement, customs patrol units and a few coast guard officers.

Treasury officials have sought this merger for several years but have never been able to get authority from congress.

Beyond that combination, administration officials report only a maze of problems awaiting solution.

Among re-organizations which may be undertaken are these:

1. Combination of federal re-employment service, now under the Labor department, and the unemployment compensation service of the social securtiy board.

2. Re-organization of housing agencies. In this field are the Home Owners Loan corporation, originally designed to prevent foreclosures on mortgaged homes; the Federal Housing administration which finances home construction and modernization, and the United States Housing authority, low-cost housing agency.

3. Combination of the P.W.A. and the W.P.A. The President cannot create any new departments, even should he desire to, but he might attempt his own solution of the public works-relief setup by some sort of sub-departmental merger.

One thing which Mr. Roosevelt may do without delay is appoint six white house administrative assistants—men, as he once said, with a "passion for anonymity."

JUDGE REDUCES AWARD BY JURY IN SUIT

Judge W. C. Sheely, of Gettysburg, has reduced a verdict of $10,000 awarded by a Dauphin county jury to George L. Reed, former State senator, against The Patriot company, of Harrisburg, contention that it started from a reduced to $2500. The jury awarded the $10,000 to Reed following a trial in June, 1938, in which Reed sought damages on eight charges of libel.

The jury in June acquitted the company on seven of the eight charges of libel and convicted it on the one count involving a dropped line from an article, which appeared in The Evening News on October 24, 1936, and which was corrected in subsequent editions of the same day.

SERVING AVOCADOS

Here is a new way of serving avocados: Cut them in halves, discard the seeds, fill the centers with Roquefort French dressing. Then chill half an hour and serve on salad greens, garnished with a thin wedge of lemon. The half of avocado is eaten with a spoon.

SCHOOLS NEED MORE STATE AND FEDERAL HELP

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP) — A long-range program including equalization of tax assessments, more state aid and a system of federal allotments to states for schools was urged today as a permanent solution to the problem facing financially-distressed school districts in Pennsylvania.

It was proposed by Dr. Marion K. McKay, financial adviser to the state Department of Public Instruction, who told delegates to the annual University of Pennsylvania's schoolmen Week that an immediate state appropriation would relieve the present situation, but would not be a lasting remedy.

At the same time the delegates heard a warning Thursday by Thomas Francis, president of the Pennsylvania Education association, that "Pennsylvania faces a collapse of its public school system", unless aid is forthcoming.

"Up to March 1 last, $1,977,556.96 was allocated to 264 distressed districts (in Pennsylvania) since the last biennium began June 1, 1937 — yet there are still pending applications for aid from 219 school districts, many of them in dire need," Doctor McKay said.

"These pending applications, which are distributed among 42 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties — with the worst situations in the coal regions — can be given no consideration, for the special fund to aid distressed districts is exhausted."

Francis, who also is Lackawanna county school superintendent, described the present system of financing public education as belonging to the "horse and buggy era."

"The tremendous burden now being borne by real property for the support of education in Pennsylvania is unfair and unjust," he said, "and any plan for re-adjustment that does not relieve this burden and cause the cost of education to be shared by other forms of wealth in a just proportion will not solve the problem."

MAYAN RUINS FOUND

Vera Cruz, Mexico (AP).—Ruins that the National Geographic society has announced are unmistakably Mayan have been discovered at Tres Zapotes, in Vera Cruz state. The ruins are much more accessible to visitors from the United States than the famed ones of Yucatan.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our wife and mother, Mrs. James Jeffcoat, March 24, 1936.

Precious mother she has left us,
Left us, yes, for ever more;
But we hope to meet our loved one,
On that bright and happy shore.

Lonely the house, and sad the hours
Since my dear wife has gone;
But Oh! a brighter home than ours,
In heaven is now her own.

By Husband and Children.

Plain and medium grades of fat cows bulked at $5.50a6.25, and the low cutters and cutters went at $4a5.25. Sausage bulls sold from $7.25 downward.

CALVES—Good grade vealers at steady rates brought $11a11.50, mostly; medium grades were taken at $9a10.50 and the cull and plain from $6a8.50.

HOGS—Mostly 10c. higher prices prevailed in the local hog trade yesterday and at the advance the good and choice grades of 170-210-pound barrows and gilts brought $7.85a8.10; practical top, $8.10. Comparable grades of 210-240 pounds brought $7.70a7.95; 250-300-pound butchers, $7.20a7.60; 140-160-pound light lights, $7.55a7.80; 120-140-pound slaughter pigs, $7.10a7.45. Good packing sows, scaling under 400 pounds, $6.25a6.50; weightier sows, $6a6.25 and stags quoted from $4.50 down, according to weight and condition. Hogs from doubtful areas and those fattened on garbage or swill and price premiums occasionally paid for through-billed rail consignments purchased for reshipment are not represented in foregoing quotations.

SHEEP—There was not enough on offer in the sheep pens yesterday to test price schedules and consequently quotations were on a nominal basis. A few head of slaughter ewes arrived and sold from $4a4.50 and small lot of old thin sheep brought $2. Sales of good and choice grades of fed Western lambs earlier this week sold mostly from $10.25a10.50.

Slovakia Border Quiet After Day Of Troop Clashes

Bratislavia, Slovakia, March 24 (AP)—Numerous casualties in the fighting Thursday and today along Slovakia's uncertain eastern frontier between Slovak and Hungarian forces were reported today by the official Slovak press bureau.

(In Budapest, however, Hungarian authorities reported that quiet prevailed today along the greater part of the border, where Hungarians admittedly were occupying disputed areas they claimed as rightfully theirs.)

The Slovak official account said Slovak troops engaged the Hungarians around Sobrante and Michalovice and that Hungarian units withdrew five miles, beginning at 3:30 a. m. (9:30 p. m. Thursday, E.S.T.).

Three regiments of infantry and an airforce detachment were said to have participated in the fighting on the Slovak side.

In Berlin German officials viewed the advance of Hungarian troops into eastern Slovakia Thursday as a local incident, and indicated the Hungarians wished to gain some small sections of territory before the new Slovak-German treaty went into effect late Thursday.

Informed quarters insisted Hungary occupied only territory which had been awarded her in the Vienna settlement November 2 which gave Hungary frontier parts of old Czechoslovakia. In addition, Hungary was said to have taken over some small frontier villages which belonged ethnolcgically to Carpatho-Ukraine, now Hungary's by annexation.

YORK SPRINGS

York Springs — On Tuesday evening a number of the members of the recently organized Lions' club of York Springs went to Dillsburg where they attended a model meeting of the Dillsburg club. Those who were guests of the Dillsburg Lions were: Steele Stuchel, Norman D. Starry, William Lott, George Inskip, Grantas Hoopert, Moses S. Hershey, W. Roy Starry, Romayne L. Pittenturf, Charles M. Boyer, Eugene Lerew, F. Elmer Coulson and Clair Ditzler.

Miss Verjean Fair spent the last week-end visiting relatives in Lancaster and Harrisburg.

The Rev. Lester M. Utz and son, Paul Lester, York Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Smith, and son, Robert Lynn, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stallsmith on Wednesday evening.

Miss Marguerite Snyder, state employe at Harrisburg, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bowers and daughter, Ruth, Glen and Irene Miller, York, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Miller.

Mrs. Carl Prosser visited Mrs. Lester M. Utz Thursday afternoon.

A concert was presented by members of the York Springs high school before a capacity audience in Snellbaker's hall Wednesday evening under the direction of Prof. Dale Roth. The organization numbers about 30 boys and girls from the grade and high schools of the borough. The program was well received. Prof. Roth plans to accept engagements for the coming summer. The band is supported by the York Springs high school band auxiliary of which Joseph Heisey, is president.

The junior class of the York Springs high school will present its class play in Snellbaker's hall on Thursday and Friday evenings, March 30 and 31, under the direction of Mrs. Steele Stuchell. The play is entitled "Second Fiddle." Tickets are now on sale.

Walter Wolf has been confined to his home for nearly two weeks with a severe case of grippe. He is greatly improved and expects to return to his garage soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase Pittenturf, the Rev. Lester M. Utz and son, Paul Lester, transacted business in Hanover on Thursday.

Mrs. Charles Mayers, Lower Bermudian Lutheran congregation, John Hinkle, Chestnut Grove Lutheran, and the Rev. Lester M. Utz, York Springs, were the official representatives from the York Springs Lutheran parish at the town and country church conference held in the Second Presbyterian church, Carlisle, on Monday.

Miss Mildred M. Utz, Hanover R. D., is spending a few days at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. Lester M. Utz, York Springs. Other recent visitors at the Utz home were, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Sprenkle, Hanover, the Rev. George Bowers, Gettysburg, and J. Luther Crum, Harrisburg.

The regular monthly meeting of the Willing Workers society of the York Springs Lutheran congregation was held Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lerew. Fifteen members attended the meeting. Among the items of business acted upon was to accept the invitation to be host to a basket luncheon at the town and rural church conference of Adams county which will be held in the York Springs Lutheran church Wednesday, April 19.

WOOL

Wool production in the United States increased 3,701,000 pounds in 1938 over 1937 with a total of 436,510,000 pounds. These increases occurred in the western sheep states. Pennsylvania, an important wool producing state in the east, showed a decrease of 189,000 pounds in 1938 from the 1937 figure of 6,349,000 pounds.

Grace Moore, famous Tennessean soprano, has been named a Chevalier of the French "Legion of Honor."

GERMANS SIGN TRADE TREATY WITH RUMANIA

Bucharest, Rumania, March 24 (AP) — A trade treaty highly favorable to Germany bound Rumania closer to the reich economically today, but Rumanians continued precautions for defense.

Reservists still were going to concentration points, and in the capital housewives stormed the market to buy foodstuffs.

Several grocers placed guards at their doors and admitted customers in small groups.

Bankers reported uneasiness of depositors seemed to be abating because of the government's assurances that troop concentrations would not last long and because it was believed by many Rumanians that the commercial understanding with Germany meant security from other neighbors.

Germany will exploit Rumania's vast mineral resources under the commercial accord, have access to the Black sea, and collaborate in banking. Germany will buy on a "balanced exchange" basis more Rumanian fodder, fruits, textiles, materials and vegetable oils.

Rumania will get war materials, machinery and technical assistance in establishing industries for processing agricultural products. Germany will overhaul the Rumanian railway system, build roads and improve river transportation.

The German legation informed the foreign office that armaments Rumania had ordered from Czecho-Slovak factories would be delivered — 30 carloads, to be sent by way of Poland to Bucharest.

Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu issued a statement that Rumania "gives fresh proof of her wish for understanding and her will to contribute to strengthening of peace" by signing the agreement, adding that "Rumania is ready to examine the possibility of concluding other similar economic agreements."

"We are pursuing the pacific aims so firmly stated here, in all loyalty and with unshakeable will which we are ready to show in all circumstances for the defense of our frontiers and the independence of our country," the statement read.

FILIPINO POPULATION UP

Manila, P. I. (AP).—The population of the Philippine islands is probably between 17,000,000 and 18,000,000, Ray Hurley, census adviser, has reported to commonwealth officials. The population of Manila has doubled in the last 20 years, he said, and now stands at about 600,000.

SAYS READERS PREFER 'TRIPE'

"Ninety per cent of the books issued are fiction—the tripe of that kind of literature I am sorry to say," he declared.
